

A Picture for Every Classroom

Come to Artemis and choose artworks from our amazing collection to take back and use in your classroom.

Includes 'Big Pictures for Little People' - free teacher training for Early Years professionals on using original works of art from the Artemis Collection to support effective learning across the EY curriculum

Artemis is delighted to offer the third of this year's special selection events for teachers where you can choose artwork from Artemis's lending collection of original prints, paintings, sculptures, textiles and photographs and take them away with you on the day to work with in your school.

Our School Selection Event is at Artemis, 45 Marshall St, Leeds LS11 9RZ on Wednesday 17th May 2017.

2.30pm – 3.45pm: 'Big Pictures for Little People' – Free CPD for teachers.

In this session, EY professionals will discover how areas of the curriculum, (in particular Communication and Language, Literacy, Mathematics and Understanding the World) can be supported through the use of original artworks from the Artemis Collection. This is a hands-on, fun session during which you will look at ways in which the method can support the development of creativity and critical thinking in early years children.

3.45pm – 5pm: Picture Selection Event

Browse at your leisure the selection of pictures available to borrow. There will be lots of new pictures to choose from. You may borrow as many as you feel is appropriate (most teachers borrow two or three) and you can keep them in school until the end of the current academic year

Cost: You can book a place on either the training or the picture selection event (or both). As part of the Artemis service, there is no charge for Leeds Local Authority schools. For academies and schools outside of Leeds, there is a cost of £40 per delegate to attend.
