

Live Music in Schools 2019-20

Enriching both cross-curricular and music specific provision

Leeds Music Education Partnership (LMEP) is delighted to offer performances for all maintained schools, free schools and academies in Leeds.

Our Live Music in Schools programme (managed by ArtForms), provides an opportunity for your pupils to hear and to interact with professional musicians.

All the musicians featured are highly skilled performers who have developed their offers to enhance the learning and understanding of their audiences. As well as forming a vital part of the National Curriculum in music, listening skills are key to learning across the curriculum.

In order to make it easier for you to bring high quality, appropriate performances into your school, LMEP has subsidised the cost and schools pay a set price of:

£86 max 2 hours (afternoon), £129 max 3 hours (morning), £171 max 4 hours (am & pm)

NB: as this scheme is already subsidised by LMEP school may not use any other LMEP grant to pay for performances they book.

Performances will be tailored to suit audiences from Early Years through to A Level.

In order to choose an appropriate group for your school, to discuss the practicalities of a performance, or to find out more about the way that your pupils will benefit from live music in their school please contact: Lee Muncaster on lee.muncaster@leeds.gov.uk

An exploration of contrasting styles and traditions of music; that which makes them distinct, and what they have in common. An opportunity for children to understand more about how music is created, produced and communicated away from the written page, with potential for some singing and dancing as well. Links with other curriculum areas, notably history and geography, are explored through the music.
Maia Four piece folk/rock band Maia performs as an acoustic band or, if preferred, fully staged and amplified	Maia	KS1 KS2 KS3 KS4 KS5	Expect a high energy show with plenty of sing-along moments. The performance incorporates various styles of music played on guitar, ukulele, banjo, mandolin, keyboard and percussion, including cajon and djembe. During the performance members of the audience will be invited to take part in creative musical activities as well as join in with singing. Through musical activities the band looks at performing to a group, layering sounds and creating rhythms. This allows the children to build their knowledge of song arranging and writing. Using popular song structures such as the 12 bar blues, children are involved in the creative process, with lyric writing, chord progressions and overall song structure. Stripping down the elements of a song and taking it back to the bare bones of lyric writing and instrument arrangements, enables a focus on performance techniques and songwriting. As well as being able to adapt our one-hour KS3 show to an older audience Maia also has the ability to work with smaller groups in a more workshop-style environment. Workshops can run from one hour to a full day.
Music and the Deaf Instrumental quartet	Classical Introduction	All key stages	Classical performances by professional deaf musicians for both deaf and hearing audiences. The programme features an interactive session around deafness and inclusion in music-making.

Performance and workshop on guitar, double bass and drums. Suitable, accessible and inclusive for all.
