Secondary Edition Autumn 2019

Welcome to the Music and Arts Newsletter for secondary schools.

Why extra curricular activities matter

The importance of extra-curricular activity is explored in this report from the Social Mobility Commission: An Unequal Playing Field: Extra-Curricular Activities, Soft Skills and Social Mobility

One of the best bits about childhood is doing the things you enjoy outside of the classroom. Yet research suggests that children and young people (C&YP) from disadvantaged backgrounds never get the chance. As a result they lose out on benefits including increased confidence; aspirations to go onto higher or further education; a sense of health and well being and belonging; and the development of 'soft skills'. Extra-curricular activities are also vital for C&YP to develop networks which those from affluent backgrounds may already have.

C&YP engaged in the research reported that extra-curricular activities give them the opportunity to have fun and relieve the stresses of their pressurised school lives. However, the research indicates that there is a direct link between household income and participation with children from the poorest households much less likely to take part in any extra-curricular activity.

The report makes 4 recommendations including increasing the organisational capacity of schools to support their extra-curricular provision and improve information on the availability of activity in local areas

In Leeds, there is a wealth of extra curricular activities for C&YP to access, much of which is free. The Breeze Culture Network (BCN) is a website which provides information about opportunities across the city.

News Round Up

Discover! Creative Careers

Did you know that careers opportunities in the creative industries are increasing, with employment in the sector growing three times faster than the rest of the UK economy?

From the 18 – 22 November, Discover! Creative Careers week is taking place across the country. Participating schools will visit local arts and cultural organisations to allow their students to develop their knowledge and understanding of the range of jobs and roles within the sector. Information about the week has been circulated through school based Career leads. Some schools are developing the work through curriculum subjects by showcasing the range of careers available. This can be a useful way of advocating for your subject.

The Discover Creative Careers website has been developed as part of the Creative Careers Programme and provides a directory of careers information and opportunities. For opportunities available in the Leeds City region, visit the FutureGoals website.

Leeds Young Film and Co-op Academy Partnership Project

In 2018/19, The Burberry Inspire project, enabled Leeds Young Film to work closely with pupils and staff at the Co-op Academy. This work resulted in a number of highly motivated young filmmakers and students who are considering career options connected to film. In addition, CPD opportunities supported staff to explore how film can be used as a tool for learning in their subject areas.

To build on this inspiring work, a successful partnership bid was submitted to the Raising Aspirations Grant from the West Yorkshire Combined Authority. Leeds Young Film will work with the Academy to set up their own film kit and will support staff through CPD to deliver film making opportunities, including running a film club, and offering the first INDIs Film Festival in school.
