

CLYO REHEARSAL UPDATE

Dear CLYO members and parents,

I had hoped to be writing to you this week with good news and further details of our rehearsals at St Marks. The CLYO team has been working really hard over the last few weeks to make it happen and were so looking forward to seeing everyone again and playing some music.

However, in light of the PM's announcement over the weekend, we feel it would not be appropriate to begin rehearsals the day after a national lockdown starts. We have therefore decided that CLYO will not be having face-to-face rehearsals this term, and will now look to restart after Christmas.

In the meantime though, we have a few digital plans up our sleeve to keep us going! More information to follow... In order for this to work, everyone in CLYO should now have access to Google Classrooms. I have put a few messages in our 'classroom'. Please can you check that you can access the classroom, view the messages from me, and are able to reply? If you cannot, please let me know ASAP.

We are so disappointed to postpone again, but the safety and health of our members and staff must take priority. I hope you understand and support our decision.

(If you are involved with other CLYM groups, conductors will be getting in touch separately about their individual plans.)

With best wishes,
Hannah and the CLYO team
