

I WANT TO BREAK FREE

Hi everyone,

I'm so excited to be able to tell you that the video for 'I want to break free' will be released tomorrow!

It will be available on YouTube, Facebook and Twitter from 7pm - I'll send out links tomorrow so you know where to find it.

Please do watch it and share it with family and friends. We want to use the power of these platforms to spread our message, particularly in this extraordinary time when the normal avenues of recruitment for our music groups are mostly closed to us. We'd love it if the video reached some potential new members and inspired them to join! Mostly though, I hope that seeing our young musicians performing in the video brings a smile to the faces of people that we aren't able to see at the moment.

I was so, so impressed with the videos that everyone sent in and can't thank you enough for the care and effort that was put into them. I hope you like the final result. We had hoped to get the video out sooner, but it seems quite fitting that it was recorded in lockdown 1 and released in lockdown 2!

I can't wait for you all to see the video and really hope you enjoy it.

Best wishes,
Hannah
